

BIG BASE BALL CROWDS.

80,000 SPECTATORS SEE THE TWO GAMES AT BROOKLYN AND 20,000 AT THE BOSTON GAMES.

The New York and Brooklyn Clubs Win and Lose—Boston Takes Two Games from the Chicago-Jersey City Wins One of the Two Games with the Newark Club—Total Score—Gaines—Many Anecdotes—Fantasy—Dobbs—Harvard by a Close Score—The Attendance at Yesterday's Games.

The actual attendance at the games of the four great base ball organizations in this part of the country yesterday is shown in the following table. The figures were secured by THE SUN's correspondents, and are correct:

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Where Played.	Morning.	Afternoon.	Total.
New York	2,893	2,892	5,785
Pittsburgh	2,928	1,962	4,890
Washington	2,000	1,910	3,910
Boston	2,000	1,910	3,910
Totals.	14,458	8,687	41,445

THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

Where Played.	Morning.	Afternoon.	Total.
Baltimore	2,000	2,000	4,000
Brooklyn	2,100	2,100	4,200
Columbus	2,000	2,000	4,000
Totals.	11,420	8,708	42,128

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE.

Where Played.	Morning.	Afternoon.	Total.
Baltimore	2,000	2,000	4,000
Boston	2,000	2,000	4,000
Totals.	4,000	15,722	20,722

THE ATLANTIC ASSOCIATION.

Where Played.	Morning.	Afternoon.	Total.
Jersey City	2,893	2,892	5,785
Worcester	3,000	2,902	5,902
Boston	2,000	1,910	3,910
Totals.	11,893	8,694	20,587

RECAPITULATION.

Total. 41,445 8,687 42,128

THE NEW YORK GAMES.

The scores of the games played by the National League clubs yesterday are: (A. M.) Indianapolis 6; (P. M.) New York 7; Indianapolis 6; (A. M.) Philadelphia 13; Pittsburgh 6; (P. M.) Pittsburgh 10; Philadelphia 4; (A. M.) Boston 10; Chicago 8; (P. M.) Boston 4; Chicago 22; (A. M.) Cleveland 2; Washington 1.

THE RECORD.

Game. Wm. Est. P. C. C. Mon. Est. P. C. C. Mon. Est. P. C. C.

The National League 14,458 20,722 20,587

The American Association 11,420 20,587 20,128

The Atlantic Association 5,733 9,304 8,694

Totals. 36,115 83,303 119,404

THE National League.

The scores of the games played by the National League clubs yesterday are: (A. M.) Indianapolis 6; (P. M.) New York 7; Indianapolis 6; (A. M.) Philadelphia 13; Pittsburgh 6; (P. M.) Pittsburgh 10; Philadelphia 4; (A. M.) Boston 10; Chicago 8; (P. M.) Boston 4; Chicago 22; (A. M.) Cleveland 2; Washington 1.

THE RECORD.

Game. Wm. Est. P. C. C. Mon. Est. P. C. C. Mon. Est. P. C. C.

The National League 14,458 20,722 20,587

The American Association 11,420 20,587 20,128

The Atlantic Association 5,733 9,304 8,694

Totals. 36,115 83,303 119,404

THE NEW YORK GAMES.

The New York Club had a grand day yesterday but it had to do on account of the weather. It is quite probable that the New York Club has never played so small a crowd on any holiday as they did yesterday. The attendance at the morning game was only 3,200, while at the afternoon game there were 4,700.

The smallness of the morning attendance was owing to the dense fog that prevailed up to the time the game began, and the fears of the used-holiday base ball lovers were that there would be no game. In the afternoon the weather gave promise of being very fine, and it was up to about 3 o'clock, when the big crowds were on their way to the ball grounds. Then a sudden shower came up, and rain fell for nearly half an hour.

Those who were on the grounds stayed to see the outcome of the storm, but two boat loads of those who were on their way turned back, and, in fact, did not get off the boats at all, but returned at once to this city. Those who were on the way ready to take the boat turned back. The afternoon crowd was a jolly one; in fact, it was a regular holiday crowd to cheer every fine play or good hit, and those present plenty to do, for there was any amount of good work done on both sides.

INDIANAPOLIS, 6; NEW YORK, 5—FIRST GAME.

The New York Club had a grand day yesterday but it had to do on account of the weather. It is quite probable that the New York Club has never played so small a crowd on any holiday as they did yesterday. The attendance at the morning game was only 3,200, while at the afternoon game there were 4,700.

The smallness of the morning attendance was owing to the dense fog that prevailed up to the time the game began, and the fears of the used-holiday base ball lovers were that there would be no game. In the afternoon the weather gave promise of being very fine, and it was up to about 3 o'clock, when the big crowds were on their way to the ball grounds. Then a sudden shower came up, and rain fell for nearly half an hour.

Those who were on the grounds stayed to see the outcome of the storm, but two boat loads of those who were on their way turned back, and, in fact, did not get off the boats at all, but returned at once to this city. Those who were on the way ready to take the boat turned back. The afternoon crowd was a jolly one; in fact, it was a regular holiday crowd to cheer every fine play or good hit, and those present plenty to do, for there was any amount of good work done on both sides.

PHILADELPHIA, 13; PITTSBURGH, 7—SECOND GAME.

Philadelphia, 13; Pittsburgh, 7—Second Game.